INTRODUCTION

Dear All,

The past year brought a great deal of suffering to the world. It also intensified the biggest challenges of today's world, such as the climate crisis or sudden socio-political changes. However, it showed us what enormous strength lies in the human solidarity, empathy and sensitivity to the needs of others. In times of crisis, these exact values drive us. They have guided the work of the Polish Humanitarian Action for 33 years.

As workers of the humanitarian sector, every day, we make hundreds of decisions that can determine the health and lives of those who experience the worst. From the flood in Somalia, through the famine in Gaza, to the shelling of towns and villages in Ukraine, we are everywhere where our aid can make a difference. We also work in places that the world has forgotten, such as Yemen, which has been mired in civil war for a decade. We also committed all our efforts to support the people of south-western Poland in dealing with the effects of the most catastrophic flood in nearly 30 years.

Despite many difficulties and an increasingly shrinking space for humanitarian action, we managed to reach more than one million people on three continents. In the age of growing xenophobia, we are proud that our support is not exclusionary – it is provided to all people in need, regardless of background, religion, skin colour or political beliefs.

However, we would not be able to fulfil our mission without you. It is thanks to you that we can effectively run long-term projects and respond to sudden crises abroad and in Poland. Your regular support donations, ongoing business partnerships or rapid response to appeals for help allow us to look ahead with hope.

Therefore, today, on behalf of the entire organisation, I am happy to report on our activities in 2024. These are not just numbers or maps – it is a record of our collective success. And a preview of what more we can do together!

INTRODUCTION

WHAT WE DID IN 2024?

It was an intensive year for us – not only did we continue our assistance in countries where we have a permanent presence, but we also responded to various emergency crises. We constantly look at our projects and implement innovative approaches that allow us to provide even more effective assistance to those in need around the world. What was happening last year?

We completed 54 projects in 10 countries!

Aid in Gaza in response to the catastrophic humanitarian situation – we donated 500 hygiene packages and food parcels to over 3,000 families!

SOS Flood – from the first moments of the flood in Poland, we acted by donating essential items. Our help turned into long-term support!

The Pajacyk programme for the first time launched food support for the winter holidays – we provide hot meals to children from impoverished families all year round!

In Ukraine, we support local organisations – we trained 15 organisations to increase their competences and effectiveness.

We are growing the team in Madagascar – we hired many new colleagues, and launched key departments such as HR, logistics and finance.

We are committed to equality and inclusivity – our office in South Sudan achieved gender balance after hiring new, competent people.

Meeting of the heads of PAH Country Offices, who visited our office in Warsaw. It was an opportunity to integrate and talk about development and cooperation.

OUR ACTIVITIES IN 2024

In 2024, humanitarian aid was discussed and written about more often than usual. The dramatic crisis in Gaza, the growing humanitarian needs around the world, the war in Ukraine and, at the end of the year, the catastrophic flood in south-western Poland all show how the effects of climate catastrophe and ongoing conflicts are affecting more and more people. For 33 years, we have been operating in various parts of the world, providing aid to those whose lives and health are at risk. This would not have been possible without the support of people, business partners and institutions. Thanks to you we can reach where help is needed.

OUR TEAM

PAH team is made up of professionals and experts in their fields Our team consists of accountants, logisticians, marketers, engineers, programme coordinators, people responsible for administration or HR. Strengthening local communities is at the heart of what we do, so in the country offices the vast majority of the team consists of local staff who are most familiar with the language, culture and needs of their communities. We share a common mission and a commitment to humanitarian values. Without the commitment of all our employees, PAH’s activities in different parts of the world would not be possible.

YEMEN

HUMANITARIAN AID

2024 marks a decade of civil war in Yemen. It remains one of the most serious humanitarian crises in the world. Almost two-thirds of the population needs assistance, mainly food and health care. There is not enough clean water nor efficient sanitation which leads to increased the risk of disease spread and outbreaks. Increasingly frequent natural disasters resulting from climate change are worsening the situation, especially among the poorest people. Some residents lost their identity documents which renders providing them aid very difficult.

On the 10th anniversary of the conflict in Yemen, in partnership with Caritas Poland, we conducted a joint awareness campaign to draw attention to the plight of the Yemenis and to encourage further support for those suffering because of this crisis. As the only Polish aid organizations working in Yemen, we particularly wanted to highlight the tragic conditions for children who knew no other life than wa

The project is planned for 2024–2025 and includes the repair of the existing water source and the installation of a solar-powered submersible pump. As the project started at the end of 2024, during this period we focused on assessing needs and working with local authorities to select a location for repairs.

AHMED

Ahmed is 52 years old and lives in a camp for internally displaced persons in the Marib Governorate. Everyday life for his family of nine in the tents was really difficult – in winter they were freezing from the piercing cold, and in summer they were unable to protect the children from insects and mosquitoes, which transmit dangerous disease.

We provided the family with essential household items. Ahmed told us: 'We made use of mosquito nets and mattresses, and our children sleep soundly at night. When winter comes, we won't fear for them because of the cold, because we were also given blankets.'

KENYA

DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION

We have been carrying out humanitarian and development work in Kenya for seven years now. Despite stable economic growth of the country, still many Kenyans live in poverty. The situation is exacerbated by the effects of climate change, such as degradation of agricultural land, lack of access to safe drinking water and food shortages.

To improve living conditions on the ground, we focus on integrated measures: not only providing access to water, but also supporting local farmers. In schools, we carry out educational activities on climate change, waste management and proper hygiene. We provide access to water and electricity for male and female students. Our aim is to support local communities in becoming more resilient to the effects of future crises and natural disasters.

This was particularly relevant for girls, who are particularly vulnerable to exclusion by their peers during menstruation.

The project to build hydroponic gardens in four locations included the installation of soilless growing systems, water analysis, provision of materials, staff training and monitoring by an agronomist. These systems enabled food to be grown using less water and increased the self-sufficiency of local communities in food production.

STELLA

Stella is a mother, wife and grandmother. And on top of that, a member of an agricultural co-operative! We introduced an innovative plant irrigation system in her village that allows her to grow vegetables and herbs for her own use all year round. It was not possible before due to worsening drought and insufficient access to water.

There are thousands of such agricultural co-operatives in Kenya. They bring farmers together to increase crop efficiency and create income opportunities. Our role is to provide local communities with the tools to better cope with the negative impacts of climate change.

LEBANON

DEVELOPMENT COOPERATION

In 2024, Lebanon was struggling with a severe humanitarian crisis caused by years of economic collapse, the war in Syria and the escalating armed conflict between Israel and Hezbollah. Already in 2023, 78% of the population was living below the poverty line, 36% of households had difficulty buying food and 31% had no access to water. Israel's invasion in October 2024 resulted in the internal displacement of 900 000 of the country's population in late November last year. Health facilities, schools, as well as water and energy infrastructure were destroyed.

In response to the economic crisis, we continued to operate the GLOW Center, where we provide vocational training. In the face of conflict we expanded our activities, providing hygiene products and psychological support sessions for internally displaced people in Tripoli and Beirut.

Population:
5,7 mln

The GLOW Centre's Mobile Training Team also conducted one-day workshops in Beirut, Tripoli and the Akkar District for children and young people aged 10–17. Workshops were aimed at building the coping capacity and integration in the most vulnerable areas of Lebanon, emphasising gender balance and a sense of belonging. A total of 1,337 persons attended the workshops.

Immediate assistance to communities displaced by armed conflict in Lebanon

Aid received by:
13 220 people

Number of women and girls who received aid:
7495

Location:
Tripoli, Beirut

Source of funding:
Donors' contributions

Following Israel's attack on Lebanon in October 2024, many inhabitants lost their homes. At the end of November 2024, when the ceasefire was announced, the number of people who had left their homes reached almost 900,000. As part of the project, through local partner International Humanitarian Relief, we distributed hygiene packs to displaced people who were staying in Tripoli and Beirut. They went to 1,923 families (i.e. 11,719 people). We also organized group psychological first aid sessions that were attended by 1,501 people.

SAHAR

Sahar is a trainer for the Glow Centre for Empowerment's Mobile Team. She runs classes for children and young people. Their aim is to build solidarity, respect and the ability to resolve conflicts and establish cooperation. They are attended by children from various backgrounds, including Lebanese as well as Syrian and Palestinian refugees living in camps and impoverished urban neighbourhoods. 'During these meetings you can see how much the children enjoy them and how much they open up. By the end of the class, the children can work together despite their differences,' says Sahar.

During the Israeli-Lebanese conflict, our Centre operated remotely. In November 2024, the Centre's building was destroyed by Israeli shelling, but mobile teams reaching out to children in different parts of Lebanon were active on a regular basis.

MADAGASCAR

HUMANITARIAN AID

Madagascar, particularly its southern Grand Sud region, is facing serious humanitarian and development problems. They are mainly caused by the climate change – prolonged droughts and repeated, intense storms, which have a very negative impact on agriculture and the daily lives of local people. There is also a lack of clean water and consequently adequate sanitation, which encourages the spread of diseases.

We are gradually expanding our activities in Madagascar, focusing on improving access to water, sanitation and hygiene. One of our most important projects is the construction of sand dams in the Androy Region in partnership with the Africa Sand Dam Foundation from Kenya. Such dams allow residents to collect and store rainwater during the dry season, significantly improving long-term access to safe water. It was also an important year for the development of the PAH office in Madagascar – the team grew from six to more than 20 people, and key departments dedicated to HR, logistics, finance and programme were established.

Aid received by:
4521 people

Number of women and girls who received aid:
2365

Location:
Androy

Source of funding:
Welthungerhilfe (WHH)

The aim of the project was to build modern water supply and management systems such as sand dams, rainwater tanks and shallow wells to improve the living conditions of children and residents in 100 villages. In addition, the project includes planting trees, establishing school gardens and supporting local entrepreneurs through training and financial assistance.

Technical support for sand dam construction by Action Contre la Faim in southern Madagascar

Location:
Regiony Androy
i Atsimo-Andrefana

Source of funding:
Action Contre la Faim

The aim of the project was to support Action Contre la Faim (ACF) in the construction of two sand dams in the Grand Sud region of Madagascar. One dam is to be built in the Atsimo-Andrefana Region and another in the Androy Region.

SAND DAMS

Sand dams are built where seasonal rivers are infrequent and short-lived. This makes them store water for longer! In Madagascar, the communities that will use the dams in the future are themselves involved in every stage of their construction: from marking out the site for construction (by lining up in a row), through splitting and collecting stones of the right size, to building the dam with the prepared materials.

Our dams are the first such structures in Madagascar!

PALESTINE

EMERGENCY RESPONSE

Since October 2023, the Gaza Strip has been experiencing a humanitarian catastrophe. Following the escalation of the Hamas-Israel conflict, tens of thousands of Palestinians were killed, and more than one million people were forced to flee in search of a safe place – even though there was none for a long time. In 2024, Gaza was almost completely destroyed, and its inhabitants suffer daily from the lack of food, water, shelter, medicine as well as medical care and electricity. Under these dramatic conditions, the entry of vital humanitarian aid is regularly blocked, but we managed to deliver hygiene kits and food.

The situation in Gaza is increasing tensions in the West Bank. Israeli settlements are increasing there, limiting Palestinians' access to basic services, such as healthcare. That is why, together with our local partner, we launched mobile clinics there, which are used by the residents of Area C.

Number of women and girls who received aid:
22 115

Location:
Jenin, Hebron, Masafer Jatta,
Eastern Jerusalem, Jericho

Source of funding:
MoFA - Polish aid

The aim of the project was to address the urgent medical needs of 48 communities in the West Bank. Residents were able to benefit from the high-quality healthcare provided by the mobile clinics. Doctors and health professionals provided medical consultations and psychosocial support. They also identified 343 cases of gender-based violence. An important element of the project was to strengthen the capacity of local communities: 120 people completed first aid training and 24 staff members who participated in the project were trained in emergency preparedness.

NADINE

Nadine is 22 years old and lives in the Gaza Strip. Before the war, her life revolved around studying and meeting friends. Her parents only required her to make sure she got good grades. Since October 2023, the woman was already forced to move to other areas of the Strip several times, she also lost both parents and her older sister. It is now up to her to look after her younger siblings. Their house was destroyed, but they decided to return to it anyway. Nadine took it upon herself to renovate the kitchen so that it can be used to cook food, basic activity that is the biggest challenge in the shelling-ravaged Gaza Strip.

In December 2024, we provided Nadine and her family with a food package. The parcels contained food with a long shelf life: cooked beans, chickpeas, oil, tinned sardines and dried fruit. The parcels went to more than 3,000 families!

POLAND

SOS FLOOD

EMERGENCY RESPONSE

In September 2024, the south-western Poland was hit by the worst flood in decades. Tens of thousands of homes, schools and community centers were flooded, road and community infrastructure was destroyed. In total, more than 57,000 people were directly affected by the disaster.

With our experience of responding to previous floods in Poland and around the world, we immediately launched our intervention, supplying municipalities and institutions with dehumidifiers, heaters, ozonators, hygiene and cleaning products, protective clothing, household appliances and water treatment stations, among others. In-kind support went to more than 12,000 people in the regions most affected by the disaster.

Simultaneously, in cooperation with partner organisations, we provided psychological first aid and information on available forms of support, we also monitored the needs of households and institutions. Within weeks of the flood, we launched a grant programme to support the repair of local infrastructure that was at the heart of local communities – schools, community centres, day centres, libraries or volunteer fire brigade facilities. It was a step towards the long-term reconstruction of the region.

ANDRZEJ

Andrzej works in a shelter for people in crisis of homelessness run by the Jeleniogórskie Stowarzyszenie Pomocy im. Św. Brata Alberta. Previously, he himself benefited from the help offered there and he now works as a caretaker of the facility. He keeps things clean and tidy, checks who is coming in and keeps an eye on meal times.

'I'm happy because I have somewhere to live. I'm no longer hungry, dirty, angry, tired. When I'm tired, I have time to rest and time for myself. This is my happiness,' he says. The shelter where Andrzej works suffered during the September flood. This is one of the many places important to the local communities that suffered heavy losses at the time. As part of our support, we funded replacement of the electrical system, refurbishment of the kitchen and storage rooms as well as installation of a fire protection system.

POLAND

Support for refugees

HUMANITARIAN AID

Poland continued to face two migration crises in 2024. Due to the ongoing war in Ukraine, refugees continued to arrive and those who had been in Poland for a long time still needed support in the integration process. We extended our activities from emergency assistance to long-term housing, educational and vocational support. We continued long-term projects with partner organisations in Poland and the activities of the NGO Forum 'Together'.

At the same time, a humanitarian crisis persisted at the border with Belarus, with migrants facing violence, exclusion and lack of access to basic assistance. We donated in-kind aid to organisations supporting people on the move and those in the Guarded Centres for Foreigners.

VALENTYNA

Valentyna is originally from Zaporizhia. She is an economist by training and a photographer by passion. When the war arrived at their doorstep in February 2022, Valentyna initially could not believe it and did not want to leave. The first thing she did was to donate blood in response to hospital appeals. Eventually, her husband convinced her to run away because he was very afraid for his family – Valentyna left with their three-year-old son, while her husband stayed and joined the army. The woman was sent to Toruń, where she received assistance from PAH. 'I'm very grateful to be part of this programme. I had a difficult moment in my life, I wasn't feeling well. I don't know how I would have managed without PAH.'

Valentyna and her little son received financial support to pay for their flat and cover basic needs. Today she earns money by organising photo shoots. She dreams of creating a place where Ukrainian women can spend time together.

Global Education

We believe that the world can be a more just place – if we combine critical thinking with action and solidarity with people experiencing global challenges.

We popularise global education by introducing topics such as responsible helping, critical thinking about the world or global interdependence to the Polish schools. We work with thousands of teachers to shape socially engaged attitudes among young people. We create innovative educational materials to facilitate activities that stimulate self-reflection and informed action. We target not only schools, but also institutions, NGOs and the general public.

2024 was a very intense year for us. We reached out to several thousand educational establishments, created 28 unique educational materials and conducted numerous training sessions. A total of as many as 148,082 people participated in our activities.

The project aimed to support teachers in teaching about global interdependence. This was done through educational materials specially prepared for them: an exercise book, a school-field game and bulletins. The project participants also carried out the action Global interdependence in our school in their schools during the Global Education Week. A webinar and a guide were prepared to support the work of the teachers.

GLOBAL EDUCATION WEEK

'The Global Education Week initiative organised in our school allowed us to look at global challenges such as climate change, social inequalities and sustainable development from a broader perspective. Through workshops, presentations and practical activities, we were all able to learn how our everyday choices affect the world. It wasn't only an education, but also an inspiration to make a change in our surroundings.'

This is what one teacher said about our Global Education Week campaign in October. Education is one of our most important objectives – we operate in schools, but we also create materials for the general public.

Pajacyk

Pajacyk is a comprehensive programme established in 1998 that supports children and young people. It operates throughout Poland, and the only criteria for eligibility are the child's real needs and difficult life situation – regardless of nationality or origin.

The programme provides free hot meals to children and young people. They are distributed to pupils and children in day care centres across the country.

We also provide psychosocial support aimed at children, young people and their guardians. Assistance covers people at risk of poverty, exclusion or mental health crisis or experiencing migration. By supporting local initiatives, the programme helps build children's mental resilience and develop social relationships; it also teaches them how to manage their emotions.

In response to the flooding in Poland in September 2024, we launched additional activities to support children and young people affected by the disaster. You can read about them in the section 'SOS Flood'.

WARM MEALS FOR CHILDREN

‘A child who doesn’t eat is tired all the time and can’t focus. They find it difficult to learn, have educational deficiencies and lack energy for daily tasks or play. This also applies to mental health – when a child is malnourished and feels tired, they cannot understand what is happening to them, why they are reacting emotionally to taunts, they see themselves as worse. Then comes the sense of inferiority, problems in presenting one’s strengths.’

Marta, director of ELEOS day care centres in Białystok, for years has observed what happens to children who do not eat properly. The Pajacyk programme has been operating there since its inception, providing healthy meals, as well as psychosocial support for children in the form of workshops and therapeutic activities.

SOMALIA

HUMANITARIAN AID

Somalia has been facing a severe humanitarian crisis for years. The situation is compounded by protracted armed conflict, lack of sustained access to food, poor health care and the effects of climate change. Recurrent droughts and floods destroy crops, leading to famine and extreme malnutrition. In addition, local epidemics of infectious diseases occur, further aggravating the situation of the local population.

Our priority in Somalia remains to help increase access to clean and safe water. We actively participate in the meetings of the relevant humanitarian cluster and have a leadership role in it. We are helping residents by providing access to clean water and food, tackling the negative effects of climate change and providing education for children and young people. We jointly organise training with local communities to share knowledge and empower them. Not only do we want to bring aid, but we also want to create awareness about the difficulties Somalis face every day.

New rainwater harvesting systems were set up at schools and health centres. Residents were given hygiene kits and received training on hygiene, environmental protection and the prevention of water-borne diseases. The project runs from 2022 to 2025.

BISHARO

Bisharo goes to primary school in Deynile District in south-eastern Somalia. She enjoys school and is particularly good at maths. She dreams of becoming a doctor, preferably with a specialisation in paediatrics.

At the school Bisharo attends, we provided water taps, latrines and a well. These facilities ensure that children do not have to worry about using the toilet when needed. The risk of infectious disease outbreaks resulting from low hygiene standards also decreases significantly. This is very important for girls like Bisharo, who need the freedom to use the toilet and privacy during menstruation.

SOUTH SUDAN

HUMANITARIAN AID

The people of South Sudan face serious humanitarian challenges due to climate change, armed conflict, disease outbreaks, high inflation and the ongoing crisis in the neighbouring Sudan. Nearly 75% of the population needs humanitarian assistance. At the end of 2024, heavy rains increased the level of the Nile, leading to floods that affected 1.4 million people. Due to the unstable situation in the country, agricultural production and access to clean water are hampered, leaving two thirds of the population without consistent and sufficient access to food.

Our priority is to ensure access to clean and safe to drink water as well as decent hygienic conditions. We support internally displaced people, refugees returning to their country and local communities. We combine responding to sudden crises with long-term rebuilding of local potential, involving the residents themselves in these processes.

The project started in December 2024, when we focused on needs assessment and analysis. The main relief project activities are planned for 2025.

RODAH

Rodah works in a clinic in Pibor providing treatment and care to patients suffering from malnutrition. He takes care of cleaning, preparing meals for patients and their families and providing water. We installed convenient water points in the form of taps at the clinic – previously water had to be delivered from a distant location. Now the well is located at the entrance and water flows underground to points scattered throughout the facility.

‘We used canisters to fetch water and carried it on our heads every day,’ Rodah explains. – Patients should only receive clean water to minimise the risk of further illnesses such as diarrhoea. It’s easier to get it now. We use it for drinking, preparing meals, washing clothes and washing dishes.’

SYRIA

EMERGENCY RESPONSE

In 2024, Syria was facing a massive humanitarian crisis, with more than 16 million people in need of assistance, including 7 million internally displaced. Armed conflict, damaged infrastructure, economic collapse, the 2023 earthquake and droughts exacerbated the dramatic situation. In December 2024, the regime of Bashar al-Assad was overthrown and the forces of Hay'at Tahrir al-Sham took power. The country is now at a crucial moment of reconstruction after decades of humanitarian crisis.

The most urgent needs are access to water, food, healthcare, education and jobs. Together with the Watan Foundation and International Humanitarian Relief, we were active in the provinces of Idlib and Aleppo, helping earthquake victims by providing clean water and education, as well as rebuilding family centres and funding vocational training.

The project provided six months of assistance with livelihood restoration, education, protection of vulnerable groups and access to water in response to the needs of people affected by the 2023 earthquake. In addition, the project included support in repairing two family centres damaged by the quake. The project included, among others, upgrades to the existing infrastructure, including sewerage and water mains, installation of street and yard lighting, installation of poles with a solar system, construction of an above-ground water tank, hygiene education activities, as well as educational and recreational activities for children. Awareness-raising sessions on children's rights were also conducted during the project.

FAISAL AND HIS FAMILY

Faisal lives in Jisr ash-Shughur in Northwestern Syria and is a working father. For years, he and his family had no access to clean, safe to drink water – it was hard to get and very expensive. And even when it did appear, it was often contaminated. In 2024, we built a large water tank in Jisr ash-Shughur with a solar panel system powering it. Faisal and his neighbours can finally use the water without fear of getting sick from drinking it, but also clean the house, water the plants and cook food for the family.

The reservoir we built provides water for more than 50,000 residents in the village.

UKRAINE

HUMANITARIAN AID

The full-scale war in Ukraine, now in its third year, is dramatically affecting the lives of tens of millions of people. The brutal attacks on the civilian population continue unabated and the destruction of schools, hospitals, homes and energy infrastructure completely transformed the daily lives of Ukrainians.

In 2024, we continued to provide support primarily in the southern and eastern regions of the country, offering psychosocial assistance, water and sanitation, cash and safe shelter, hygiene items and food. Our activities in Ukraine are currently coordinated through our main office in Kyiv and our operational offices in Lviv, Dnipro, Kharkiv and Mykolaiv, where we carry out most of our activities. Our team in Ukraine numbers around 240 people.

We also support local aid organisations. We provide training and consultations on writing grant proposals and managing projects, finances or logistics. By doing so, we strengthen the local non-governmental sector and the future reconstruction of the country.

MYKHAILO AND ALLA

Mykhailo and Alla live in the Chernihiv Oblast in the northern part of Ukraine. They are now retired, reared children and lived to see their grandchildren. Unfortunately, the war destroyed their plans for a peaceful old age. Their beloved house was severely damaged in rocket fire. The roof and walls inside the building were destroyed and the glass in the windows cracked.

PAH helped renovate the couple's home. The building was so badly damaged that the work took several months. The team repaired the roof and walls, put in new doors and windows. Now Mykhailo and Alla regained a place where they can live safely and invite their grandchildren. Mykhailo can also keep bees while his wife tends the garden.

World Humanitarian Day celebrations

On the occasion of World Humanitarian Day 2024, we realised an image-based public awareness campaign. Its aim was to promote pro-help attitudes and the idea of supporting others in need.

The creative concept for the campaign focused on the positive emotions and feelings that accompany those who help. The main message was encapsulated in the slogan: 'And what do you like about helping?' We carried out communication activities in media with broad reach, including radio stations, the Internet and digital out-of-home advertising (DOOH) media.

The '10 Years of War in Yemen' campaign

In September 2024, in collaboration with Caritas Poland, we implemented a joint campaign to mark the 10th anniversary of the war in Yemen. Its purpose was twofold: on the one hand, we wanted to build awareness of this forgotten crisis, and on the other, to raise funds for further aid. The slogan of the campaign – 'We want to celebrate life. You can help us' – countered the tragic anniversary with a message of hope. The campaign, thanks to the strength of the partnership, gained free media support from TVN and TVP, which ensured its nationwide reach.

'SOS FLOOD' campaign

In response to the flooding in south-west Poland in September 2024, we launched an immediate fund-raising campaign under the slogan 'SOS FLOOD'. The aim was to raise funds as quickly as possible to help those affected. The name of the campaign, which was also its slogan, was a direct and urgent appeal for support. Thanks to widespread public response and the unpaid involvement of many media outlets, the funds raised enabled PAH to provide aid that continues well into 2025.

Final year campaign: 'Today you help, tomorrow you get help'.

The December fund-raising campaign appealed to the memory of the recent flood in south-west Poland. Its aim was to reinforce the idea of universal solidarity and reciprocity, based on the conviction that everyone can be affected by a crisis. The campaign was intended to raise funds for statutory activities and to build the image of PAH as a trustworthy organisation helping anytime, anywhere – in Poland and abroad. The idea was summed up by the slogan: 'Today you help, tomorrow you get help'. The campaign allowed PAH to raise substantial funds for its statutory activities in 2025.

PAH Social Campaigns and Activities

#BiegamDobrze

PAH has been taking part in the campaign organised by the Warsaw Marathon Foundation since 2018. Twice a year, on the occasion of the Half Marathon in March and the Marathon in September, runners and joggers have the opportunity to choose a charity run and run for a chosen foundation, including, among others, PAH. The funds they raise go towards providing access to water around the world. In 2024, the PAH Blue Team raised funds to help the people of Madagascar.

Meetings with PAH at festivals

PAH participates in many events taking place in different parts of Poland: from music and cultural festivals to conferences or meetings for students. This type of activity is an opportunity for us to meet our donors directly, as well as to reach out to new people. In 2024, we collaborated with the Millenium Docs Against Gravity Film Festival, the Kraków Film Festival and the Warsaw Film Festival. We were at the Open'er Festival, Slot Art Festival and the Seven Sides of the World Festival.

A WELL FOR MADAGASCAR

Helping by running? It is possible!

Our 89-member Blue Team raised the necessary funds and thus built a well in Madagascar! All this took place as part of the #BiegamDobrze campaign organised regularly by the Warsaw Marathon Foundation. The runners raised a total of more than PLN 50,000, and we donated these funds to provide access to water in Madagascar.

The well was constructed in the village of Analamandro. Thanks to this investment, hundreds of families gained access to water that will enable them to carry out their daily chores, such as cooking or washing themselves, but also to water their gardens to provide food for themselves and their families.

KEY BUSINESS PARTNERS

APART

KEY BUSINESS PARTNERS

Business donors, who support us on an ongoing basis, are one of our most important sources of funding. By regularly working together, we can plan our activities and long-term assistance effectively. In 2024, business donors accounted for 20 per cent of our budget, giving us PLN 17,605,884.

Thank you very much for your constant support of our activities in Poland and abroad and for your readiness to get involved in case of urgent crises!

More and more companies are making corporate social responsibility a permanent part of their strategy. EU regulations related to ESG reporting are not insignificant, motivating companies to act more consciously and systemically for the benefit of people and the planet. For PAH, it is an opportunity to build sustainable partnerships that allow aid to be delivered more effectively and quickly where it is needed most. We thank all our business partners for their commitment, responsibility and willingness to work together.

BUSINESS PARTNERS - SOS FLOOD

BUSINESS PARTNERS – SOS FLOOD

When a sudden-onset disaster strikes, time and the commitment of everyone around you counts. We are grateful to be able to count on the support of our regular partners and new companies in the event of unforeseen situations!

In the wake of the flood in south-western Poland, our funding partners gave us a total of more than PLN 9 million in financial resources and in-kind support. Thank you for your trust and willingness to work with us!

Sudden crises require a rapid response – Polish Humanitarian Action was active in the flooded areas from the first days of the flood. This would not have been possible without the support of our Partners, who not only provided us the funding we needed, but often also in-kind support. Thank you for your solidarity, empathy and commitment!

Together we can help people even more effectively!

Grzegorz Gruca
Board Member of the Polish Humanitarian Action

We are grateful to all the donors that supported us in 2024!
Your support contributes to improving the lives of millions of people who need our help.
Thank you!
